Urbanización Mijas Golf

Mijas is one of the largest municipalities in the Province of Malaga, with 149 km². It is divided into three urban centers: Mijas Pueblo, in the mountains, keeps the charm of the typical Andalusian white village, Las Lagunas, in Mijas Costa, and La Cala, a coastal town and center of 12 km of coast that the municipality has.

The mountains offer a very abrupt panorama but softened in part by the presence of pine forests, which further embellish these places and enhance the presence of Mijas town, which appears on top as a white watchtower of the sea and lady of the mountains.

The Sierra de Mijas, belonging to the Penibético mountains and its highest point being Pico Mijas, with 1,150 meters, offers us the enjoyment of beautiful panoramic views of a harmonious walk through a natural setting. There are several trail routes which will make you enjoy even more of this privileged environment.

This area of Mijas, also called the Golf Valley, has become one of the main golf centers in southern Europe.
